

Design and colour in a hot air balloon

Cold Ash resident, Rev. John Bacon is known for his scientific balloon ascents. This photograph shows his first ascent from Shaw House, Newbury on 27th July 1898. He is the bearded gentleman in the middle of the picture, and you can see the hot air balloon he used in the background, His daughter, Gertrude Bacon, who often accompanied her father, took this photograph. Their story is featured in a special exhibition at the Museum called Place to Place.

Using colouring pencils or felt tip pens, design and colour in the hot air balloon below and draw yourself onto the picture.
