

Colour in the mug

This cream glazed pottery mug was produced to commemorate the birth of Princess Charlotte to Catherine (Duchess of Cambridge) and Prince William (Duke of Cambridge) on 2nd May 2015. Pictured, it reads 'Bucklebury Parish' where the Duchess of Cambridge grew up, and is surrounded by pink hearts, leaves and a crown. It also says: 'Hooray for Charlotte, 2 May 2015, It's a princess'. The mug was produced by potter Emma Bridgewater, Stoke-on-Trent.

Using colouring pencils or felt tip pens, colour in the mug below. You can use white and pink, as shown on the original mug, or a different colour scheme.
