

Colour in a Roman nails

This is a selection of Roman nails from the museum collection, some of which are on display in the permanent exhibition. The longer nails were probably used in the construction of roofs and similar, and the shorter nails for furniture construction.

Using felt tip pens or colouring pencils, colour in the nails.

