

Colour in a Saxon brooch

This is an Anglo-Saxon object. It is a saucer brooch that was used to fasten clothing, as this was before buttons, zips and Velcro! They would often be worn in pairs, and we call them a 'saucer brooch' because of their round and saucer-like shape.

Using felt tip pens or colouring pencils, colour in the brooch.

